Overview

Harrison Dunn is an Associate in the Boston, MA, office of Boyle | Shaughnessy Law, where he serves as a member of the firm's general litigation practice group. Prior to joining Boyle | Shaughnessy Law, Harrison clerked at a midsize Boston-based firm focused primarily on subrogation and collections. While there he gained experience in legal document preparation, legal research and writing as well as general litigation strategy.

While in law school, Harrison worked as a student prosecutor with the Suffolk County District Attorney's Office primarily at the Boston Municipal Court – Brighton Division, where he gained valuable court and trial experience. In law school, Harrison worked two jobs while attending classes at night. Managing that, he was able to achieve recognition in law school by being recommended to the Dean's List for six consecutive semesters. Further, he was involved with multiple student organizations while in law school including the legal fraternity, Phi Alpha Delta.

Harrison hails from the state of Wyoming and received his Juris Doctor from New England Law and his undergraduate degree from Suffolk University.

When not in the office, Harrison enjoys country dancing, watching sports, and spending time with his family, fiancée, and friends.
